STEWART IN THE SENATE.

Senator Stewart is giving the senate some wholesome information. Taking the result of the last election as a text, he has told the g dbugs of that body what will be the future of parties that antagonize the restoration of silver to the coinage. There is no man in congress more close to the people than the silver Senator from Nevada, and his prophecy of Wednesday will undoubtedly become the realized fact of 1896.

There is no longer any dispute as to the prominence of the silver question at the national capital. It has already overshadowed all other issues, and will claim the larger share of attention both from this congress and the next. The currency question, as some are pleased to call it, cannot be pushed aside, and it will not be settled until silver has been restored to the coinage, and the circulating medium increased with some reference to the business requirements of the country. Whatever may be the legislation on tariff, or pensions, or immigration, or any other topic of national concern, there will be no quieting of the prevailing general dissatisfaction and discontent, until the coinage of the constitution is restored to the people, and silver is added to gold as the money of ultimate redemption.

Of Stewart the Denver News says: There is no man in the national congress who more thoroughly understands these questions than does the Senator from Nevada. He is bold, able, eloquent and a master of the intricacies of the financial problem. Better yet, he is beyond all party control and outside of all partisan influences. He is representing a silver State as a silver Senator, and his voice will be heard for the cause on every possible occasion. He is the great leader for monetary reform to-day, even as Tom Benton was in the middle period of the republic, when the old Nation Bank of those days attempted to seize control of the currency of the country.

The Lieutenant-Governor Fiddled.

Concomitantly, Wash., had a social dance the other evening and Hon. C. E. Laughton, Lieutenant-Governor of the State of Washington, fiddled for the dancers. Laughton at one time held the office of Lieutenant-Governor of Nevada. He must have learned the art of fiddling since he went to Washington, as while in Nevada he was never noted for anything in the musical line except being an adept "china musician."—Silver State.

Laughton was decidedly the finest amateur violinist that ever drew a bow in the State, and was excelled by very few professionals, even of more than local reputation.

Better Bred Cattle.

Dispatch: A Nevada stockman says: Originally the sagebrush cattlemen had nothing but scrub stock. That meant beavers weighing from 300 to 500 pounds, and very coarse. Now the importation of thoroughbred bulls has worked quite a change. Bullocks weigh at least 200 pounds more on an average, the meat is sweet and juicy, and the stock is much harder. We seldom lose a half-thoroughbred, where in former years the scrub cattle used to lie down and die by the hundreds.

What Kept Her Busy.

The other day a Carson politician asked his ten year old daughter why she had not gone to the dentist several weeks ago and had her teeth fixed.

"I was so busy I couldn't, papa."

"Busy, child, what kept you so busy?"

"It was—well—you—know"

"Well what" demanded the father immediately.

"Well you see papa, there was the election."

The Warden Fight.

The fight for the Wardenship of the State Prison is now well on. For weeks past the scurrying has been going on under cover but now the work done makes it pretty well understood that the fight lies between Burlington of this county and Bell of Washoe.

Members of the California Legislature wear very long faces. They are obliged to elect a Senator free of charge.

Benton's Liniment.

Which has been used in Carson for over twenty-five years, has saved many an ache and pain to those who know it. It is really intended for horses but works with the same magical effect on the human. It is a powerful remedy and for rheumatism is the king of the world. Aches knocked out in short order. No horseman should be without a bottle. Benton's Liniment for sale at all drug stores.
